

Martinez Missionary Mail (1ST Quarter 2023)

Chuck & Robin Martinez, SGSP Mission Directors- Guatemala

When the Power Goes Out Unexpectedly

Common in Guatemala, the voltage provided by the electric utility can be low, just right, high, or off. For Robin and me (and other missionaries worldwide), we can find that the connection to our source of spiritual power may also be high, just right, low, or off. Even though we have started out strong in this first quarter of 2023, we are aware that there is still the lion's share of the year to be about our Father's work harvesting souls for the Kingdom. We invite each of you to join us in prayer, giving, and encouragement to help keep us connected to our Holy Spirit power source!

Staying connected to the Source.....

Sewing Classes Commence

Robin began her 1st quarter sewing outreach with a "getting to know you" session where students shared something about themselves and their home. These Bible Institute students also got to the explore projects and equipment they will be using in the months to come.

Looking forward to new skills and new friendships

Missionary Conference

Ministering outward to a community is second nature for missionaries, taking time to personally recharge and refresh, well, not so much. Conference speakers reminded us that to do the work of the Kingdom effectively, we must allow for these times to avoid burnout. Good advice! We did cheat a bit while resting by networking with prospective ministries that may benefit from aviation services.

Coming To a City Near You!

Chuck & Robin, SGSP Aviation Ministries, Guatemala founding directors are headed stateside. We are set to visit 4 states reconnecting with supporters, family, and friends. We expect to put on a lot of miles and want to give our personal thanks to several that have already opened their homes, provided loaner vehicles, funds, and networked appointments to share the mission and vision of SGSP Aviation Ministries, Inc.

SGSP Aviation came into being, not because it was easy, but because the Spirit of the Lord directed it be done! --Chuck Martinez

A Growing Need

Chuck & Robin already had 12 years of mission aviation experience in Guatemala when the Spirit of the Lord directed that we establish a work that connects the power of aviation to the widest possible segment of ministries to speed the Gospel, relief, and compassion to the people of Guatemala. And so, in 2018 Serving God by Serving His People (SGSP) Aviation Ministries was created. Your faithful prayer, giving, and encouragement ensures that we continue to “Give Wings to Good Works”

Value Added

Giving is not always in finances. There is great value in giving of your talent and skill.

If you communicate well on paper or in person, volunteer to use your gifting to raise awareness on behalf of SGSP Aviation Ministries, Inc. The work of the ministry is not always on the field. Sometimes it’s right from your kitchen table. Interested? Email:
